Petersburgh, August 31.

THIS City is in the utmost Confusion, To-morrow being fix'd for the Marriage of their Imperial Highnesses; which Solemnization, it was thought, would have been put off to the Middle of next Month. It is certain, that the King of Prussia's Declaration has made a great Impression on our Mind given Occasion to several Councils; but it is uncertain what Resolution has been taken; nor are we to know any other Way than by Consequences. The British Ambassador, Lord Hynford, had a Days ago an Audience of the Empress, which lasted four hours of an Hour; but the Subject is not yet busy of late; and by the Number of Couriers sent to Stockholm, Copenhagen, and Ham-burgh, we begin to suspect his Court has fabricated a Scheme of Pointicks, for the Use of the Potentates of the North. Stockholm, August 30. Orders are given for bringing the late Marquis d'Orme, who retired into the Country, to review some Regiments which are quartered in the Neighbourhood; and the Princess, his Consort, is supposed to be on his Return to this Capital, Prince William, his Brother, on his Journey to the Way of Denmark.

Trinon, September 4. The Marquis de Ferreri, Son of the late Marquis d'Orme, who retired into the Country, with all his Garrison, on the 7th of the Month, defended himself with great Courage and very till the ad of this, when he was obliged to lay out a White Flag, and to desire to capitulate, which was readily accepted, and he had all the Honours of War granted him; but, on the other Hand, his Garrison been obliged to promise not to serve against the Kingdom of Spain, or any of her Allies, for 14 Months. Troops marched out of the Citadel Yesterday, and conducted, pursuant to the Capitulation, to Chivas. Spaniards are throwing several Bridges over the River, from whence we conjecture, that they intend to force the King of Sardinia to a Battle.

Trinon, September 14. The Garrison of Castel, as it is very numerous, so it made a very gallant Defence. Look upon the taking of this Place as a Thing of religious Consequence, having made thereon the first of our new invented Ordnance, which answered so well, that the first Day we played upon the Place, we set it on Fire, and had infallibly destroyed it, but for a religious Storm of Rain. On the 5th, about Noon, the Town was on Fire in several Places, which obliged the Garrison to demand a Capitulation, tho' they insisted marching out with all the Honours of War; alledging that they had behaved well, and like Men of Honour. Look ye Gentlemen, said Lieutenant-General, all that I most readily admit; but I have reckoned so confidently upon making you Prisoners of War, I have actually sent Orders to Bristol to provide Quarters; you must therefore allow me to keep my Word; go tell your Commandant this, and let him know that it is my ultimate Resolution. Upon which, the Garrison did accordingly surrender, to the Number of 1800 Men; by which the Queen of Hungary has the best Garrison she had in Upper Silesia.

Dresden, September 12. The Prussians are gone from Dresden to Silesia, leaving Receipts for what they took of the City. The King of Prussia is said to have detached General du Moulin with another considerable Corps towards Lusatia, tho' this Intelligence is not certain. The Saxons Detachment from the Army in Bohemia, are hence, by Water, Yesterday, to Torgau, to be the 14th at Eulenberg, and there remain till a March of Count Rutowski, till future Operations require other Dispositions. General Rensard arrived here Yesterday, as will his Detachment To-day. Magdeburg, September 21. Prince George of Hesse Cassel arrived here last Sunday, and proposes to stay some Days. Three Battalions of Hinzels, and Regiment of La Roque, which make the First Division of the Dutch Corps destin'd for Great Britain, have been embarked since Saturday last, and wait a fair Wind. The rest of the Dutch Troops are in March, and will be shipped as fast as they arrive. Count Maurice of Nassau has not yet fix'd the Day of his Departure; but Lieutenant-General Swartenberg goes over with the next Mail. The First Division of the Hessians is supposed to be near Antwerp; the Second, consisting of Horse, entered Zutphen last Sunday; and the Third is expected at Arnheim about the Beginning of next Month.

Dublin, September 7. Last Tuesday the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common Council, waited on his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfield at the Castle; as did also the Provost and Fellows of our University; and likewise the French Protestants residing in this City, to congratulate his Excellency on his safe Arrival here, and to assure his Majesty of their great Loyalty and Affection for his Person and Government. The Recorder spoke for the City; the Rev. Dr. Clark made an Oration in Latin, for the University; and the Rev. Mr. ——— for the French; to which Speeches his Excellency returned the most polite Answers.

Villars Fitzgerald, Esq; is appointed Gentleman of the Bed-Chamber to the Earl of Chesterfield.

The next Day several other Ships arrived from the said Islands at the above Port, from which so many Letters arrived at the Post Office, that the Postage amounted to 216 l.

L O N D O N.

There are some private Letters from Frankfort which say, that they are not without Hopes that the Prussian and Palatine Ministers may return before the Coronation of the Emperor, and acquiesce in the Election.

They write from Bohemia, that the Prussian Troops are retiring out of that Kingdom into Silesia; and that they have plunder'd almost all the Places in which they were Quarter'd, without Mercy; but were more particularly severe upon Religious Houses, as for Instance at Igromertz, where they oblig'd the College of Jesuits to pay them 8000 Forins, and the Monastery of Carthusians 5000, besides taking all their Provisions.

We learn by Advices from Dresden, dated the 15th Inst. N. S. that the Suspension of Hostilities still continues; which is owing to certain Propositions made by the Court of Hanover to the King of Prussia.

King Stanislaus arriv'd at Trinon on the 11th, N. S. and is to follow their Most Christian Majesties to Choisy; but it is whisper'd the French King will very speedily set out for Alsace.

On Wednesday Morning died Mrs. Mary Chandler of the Bath; a Woman not more known, than esteem'd. The Experience the World had of her, will justify us in saying, that she was just in all her Dealings; sincere in her Love of Virtue, and all its Friends; agreeable in her Conversation, and as unchangeable in her Life, and Manners, as the Frailty of human Nature permits. All who knew her thoroughly, feel their own Loss in her Death; but when they consider how much she has got by passing out of this Life, with so undoubted a Title to a better, even Self-love cannot hinder their rejoicing at her happy Deliverance.

We hear from Yorkshire, that his Grace the Archbishop of York, the Lords Lieutenants of the several Ridings, and a very considerable Number of the Nobility and Gentry of that County, have appointed a general Meeting to be held at York, on Tuesday the 14th Inst. in order to consider of the most speedy and effectual Methods, for raising a sufficient Force to oppose, and put a Stop to the Progress of the Rebels, now in Scotland, in case they should proceed into those Parts.

Last Wednesday the Merchants of this City waited on his Majesty with the following Address.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty, the humble Address of the Merchants of the City of London.

We your Majesty's most faithful and loyal Subjects, the Merchants of your City of London, most humbly beg Leave to approach your Royal Person, and to assure your Majesty, that we heartily join in the general Joy which has been express'd on your Majesty's safe Arrival in your British Dominions.

We rest & with the highest Sentiments of Gratitude, upon your Majesty's unwearied Endeavours to support the Liberties of Europe, as well as the true Interests of all your Subjects; and we cannot omit this Occasion of of Cape Breton.

And as your Majesty's Kingdoms are again disturbed in Favour of a Popish Pretender to your Crown, we think it a Duty incumbent upon us, to renew the Assurances of our unfeigned Loyalty and Zeal to your Majesty, and that we will continue to exert our utmost Endeavours for the Support of the publick Credit of this Kingdom, and at all Times be ready to hazard our Lives and Fortunes in Defence of your Majesty's Person, your Royal Family and Government.

To which his Majesty was pleased to return this most gracious Answer.

I thank you very kindly for this dutiful and loyal Address. This fresh Declaration of the Duty and Affection of so very considerable a Body of my Trading Subjects, cannot but have the best Effect, in supporting the publick Credit; and must greatly discourage the dangerous Views and Designs of the Enemies to my Government.

The following Address from the City of Edinburgh has been presented to his Majesty by his Grace the Duke of Argyll.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

We your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh, want Words to express the Satisfaction we felt, upon receiving the News of your Majesty's happy Arrival to these your Dominions, so long and ardently wish'd for by all your Majesty's faithful and dutiful Subjects, at a Time when the Enemies to your Person and Government were daring enough to take up Arms, with a wicked Intention to deprive us of our Religion, Liberty, and Laws; Blessings we have so long possess'd, derived down to us from the Revolution, and happily enjoy'd under your Majesty's, and Royal Father's auspicious Reigns.

This City has always distinguished herself by a firm and steady Attachment to the Revolution and Whig Principles, and a hearty Abhorrence of all Popish and Arbitrary Governments. And in the Year 1715, when a most unnatural Rebellion was kindled up against your Royal Father, our Zeal for his Person and Government was equal'd by few, surpass'd by none. Since that Time we have oppos'd, as far as was in our Power, every Measure that might flatter the Pretender's Hopes.

We beg Leave at this Time to assure your Majesty, that we will stand by you, and your Royal Family, with our Lives and Fortunes; employ every Power we are possess'd of, and all the Means you shall put in our Hands, to disappoint the Views of France, and baffle the vain Hopes of this rash Adventurer, who has been audacious enough to attempt to darken and disturb the Tranquillity of your Majesty's happy Government.

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most dutiful, most obedient and loyal Subjects and Servants, the Lord Provost, Magistrates and Council of the City of Edinburgh, in Council assembled, Edinburgh, September 7, 1745.

Sign'd by their Order.

From the London Gazette.

Whitehall, September 14. By Accounts from Edinburgh, of the 7th and 8th of this Month, a Detachment of the Rebels took Possession of Perth on Wednesday the 4th. That Evening the Pretender was proclaimed there; but the Provost and Magistrates had left the Place before the Ceremony of the Proclamation began, and others were appointed in their room. The Marquis of Tullibardine was expected at Perth the Day following, with the Athol Men; and it was said, the Duke of Perth, as he is commonly called, had joined them with 400 Men well armed. The common Report was, that the Number of the Rebels amounted to 4 or 5000 Men; but by the best Intelligence, they did not exceed 3000, and these but indifferently armed, and many of them forced into their Service. It is also said, that some Gentlemen of Distinction from the Low Countries have joined them. Sir John Cope was on the 3d at Inverness, and propos'd to march as next Day towards the South. On the 2d he was joined by 200 Men of the Clan of Monro, under the Command of Sir Robert Monro's Son and Brother. By Letters of the 10th, the Rebels still remained at Perth; many of the Men rais'd in Athol have deferted, and their Numbers in general rather diminish than increase. Some Nights ago 200 of the Highlanders attacked the Garrison of Ruthven, in Badenoch, which consisted only of 12 holt House, will be a grand Performance of Vocal and Instrumental Musick: Singing by Mr. Lowe.

perience, has been remarkably serviceable in all Disorders incident to Children, and is the best Preservative known against Convulsions and Epilepsies, when cutting Teeth. It expels Wind, prevents four Belchings, and frequent Pukings, helps Digestion, and effectually appeases Gripes. Its Virtues are known to be of uncommon Service in the Chin or Convulsive Coughs, likewise in all Obstructive Cases, either of Children or Grown People, from Obstructions, Knots or Ulcers in the Lungs, attended with Catarrhs, Hætic Fevers, Night-Sweats, Fluxings, and Windings of the Flesh; likewise in those Eruptions of Impurities call'd the Red-Gum, entirely rooting out and destroying Acrimonious Humour and inward Heat of the Throat, and for want of timely Relief, kills multitudes of Infants.

It is so innocent, that it may be taken by a Child of 10 years old; and is so far from laying the Foundation of a Train of Evils, by stupifying the Senses, and only easing the pains, pausing the Stomach, &c. which are well known attend all Preparations of Opium, and which, by wounding the Vessels those very Mischief they were given to cure, which, in a little Time, break out with a double Force, thereby at once ruining the Constitution of the Infant, and terminating in Death.
